NCC Group achieves top-tier partner status with Splunk

Following a string of successes over the last year, NCC Group has been promoted to the highest level of Splunk's partnership programme. The data analytics company, which produces platforms for searching, monitoring, and analysing information, has only awarded an elite status to three other UK partners.

The promotion has been driven by the rapid growth of our managed detection and response (MDR) services and a number of large deals that have taken place over the last year, which have led to an increase in revenue generated for Splunk.

As an elite partner, we will benefit from higher levels of support from Splunk, including additional resources and training. It also reinforces our position as a focus partner for the corporation, allowing NCC Group to work more closely with Splunk on its future strategy and engagement plans for customers.

Graham McElroy, technical director at NCC Group, said: “This promotion is an exciting next step in our relationship with Splunk. We are pleased to be recognised as one of their most valuable partners and are looking forward to working with the business as it continues to grow.

“We are committed to bringing high-quality and data-rich security services to our customers, and this next stage of our partnership with Splunk will allow us to strengthen our existing offering even further.”
