Texas five-piece "powerhouse" Uncle Toasty drop debut video single 'The Butcher of Burundi'

Hailing from the Lone Star State of Texas, Uncle Toasty is a 5-piece powerhouse of raw, metallic, dissonant sounds that wail, screech and skronk their way on top of a thundering rhythm section that can only be described as a 'bulldozer dancing through a china case'.

These animal spirits waste no time in attacking the senses with their brand of tamed white noise which likens to a bastardised genome of Helios Creed and Big Black with modern DNA strands of Ty Segal and John Dwyer's more abrasive guitar layers.

Bottom line: Uncle Toasty are a super-sonic, organically modified, BEAST that was created in a lab studio during the lockdown last year and will soon be freely released into the wild prairie. This isn't science fiction, kids. You have been warned.
