SecurityCAM Sell Peace Of Mind From 85p A Day

London, United Kingdom (May 06, 2010) - SecurityCAM, the top provider of security systems for homes and businesses in the UK, can offer customers worried about home security peace of mind from only 85p a day.

One of the largest suppliers of ADT alarms in the UK today, SecurityCAM were rightfully concerned when a survey (source: Zurich Insurance and BBC) pointed out that a third of Britons ignored a triggered alarm going off at somebody else's property as they assumed the situation was under control or someone else would respond to the problem.

Costing just £297.00*, SecurityCAM can provide ADT home alarm systems which offer 24-hour protection and immediate police/keyholder response. Emergency call outs are fully covered and the package also includes fire response and protection. Installation is included in the price by SecurityCAM's expert security professionals; the alarm system also carries a guaranteed four hour response time if any faults are detected.

“The survey shows a worrying trend amongst Britons that a blaring siren isn't their concern. It shows that they feel someone else will take care of the problem and that intervention isn't up to them,” says a SecurityCAM consultant. “That concern will be completely eradicated if you purchase an ADT alarm system for your home. ADT will be constantly monitoring your property and you'll be alerted instantly should it ever be tripped. We can also install it for you as part of the cost – we're essentially offering peace of mind for 85p a day at SecurityCAM!”
