SkiStar Åre: Åre gearing up to winter's coolest sport event

International attention as the World Championship event Ice Cross Downhill makes a stop in Sweden

The sport ice cross downhill and the World Championship series Red Bull Crashed Ice World Championship invite the world's best skaters to battle downhill an awe-inspiring ice course with skates on their feet.

On 16-18 February, the third of the four events which constitute the World Championship will be held in Swedish ski resort Åre, making this one of the winter's greatest sport events estimated to attract large crowds of spectators. At the moment, the 420 metres long ice course is being finalized; a course that snakes down the hill before finishing right in the middle of Åre Square.

The competition format for ice cross downhill has been picked from ski and boarder cross. The athletes compete in heats of four on steep icy courses with jumps, rollers and turns where they reach speeds up towards 70 km p. h.

The relatively young sport has yet to gain public recognition in Sweden but the event in Åre has already drawn substantial international attention. The event will be broadcast to some 30 countries and the international media on site to cover the event include American NBC, Finnish YLE, German Sport1 and French MCS. In Sweden the entire season is running on SVT Play, also on the spot to provide live broadcast from Åre.

- Red Bull Crashed Ice is an international winter sport event which will further strengthen Åre's brand in the international marketplace, says Anna Wersén, Sales & Marketing Director SkiStar Åre.

Before the Åre event, athletes from 24 countries have made it through the national qualification rounds, among them 60 Swedes from all over the nation. The leading countries in the world championship include Finland, Germany, Switzerland, and Canada. The ruling World Champion is Arttu Pihlainen from Finland. This year's World Championship leader so far is Canadian Kyle Croxall after two events.

Special designed course with man-made ice

A staff of some 500 persons are engaged with the Åre event. For each of the events an artificially frozen, sloping ice course is construed with features such as sideboards and jumps, which take more than one month to put in place. In Åre the start is located on the ridge between the Stjärnbacken piste and the Bergbanan funicular above the small town centre. The upper section was finalized earlier and at the moment work is under way on the section running through the central parts of Åre and on the finish in the middle of Åre Square.

Major spectator event with free admission

Red Bull Crashed Ice in Åre invites spectators free of charge to a sport event covering three days of competitions, on 16-18 February. The event starts with the Nordic qualification heats on Thursday followed by international qualifications and elimination heats on Friday. Saturday evening, 18 February at 18.00hours CET will see the start of the finals in which the 64 best ice cross downhill athletes in the world will battle for the victory and the world championship points.

– Our aim is to turn the Åre event into a festival. Åre town offers a unique atmosphere and I am convinced that we have designed an arena that will give the spectators an unforgettable experience, says Bruno Laroque, project leader for Red Bull Crashed Ice in Sweden.

The event will conclude with a major party at the Holiday Club and TV4 Sport Arena, where Dutch world-class DJ Laidback Luke will set the pace. With his top 20 scoring on the DJ-MAGS list comprising the world's 100 best DJs, Laidback Luke has a long row of hits in his portfolio, including 'Sexy F**k', 'Get Dumb', 'Show me Love' and 'Leave the world behind' in partnership with Swedish House Mafia.

Tickets to the party are available through Tinet at a cost of 250 SEK, <http://www.tinet.se/event/Red-Bull-Crashed-Ice-AFTERPARTY-biljetter/SA30218>
