Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch

What you'll like the most:

- A crisp movement that makes the hands line-up exactly where (and when) they should.
- Crystal is clear to the point of invisibility head-on.
- The watch glows beautifully in the dark.

When you want it to be short:

The Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch is bright, sleek and stylish. It's a classic design that creates a perfect 'everyday' watch. It's a combination of retro design influences with an award-winning, eco-friendly technology that creates energy from light and hence, hypothetically, can run timelessly if given regular exposures to light from time to time. Its round face hides a solar panel beneath that does the trick.

Its bold, white dial comes prominent with bold Arabic numeral hour markers and makes the Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch a staple for every day. Its sword hands are well-cut and well-shaped and filled with lume. It has a day-and-date window at 3. You can take it to around 200 feet into water to be on the safer side. The movement used in the Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch is a J800 Eco-Drive.

Overall, the Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch is a sporty and sturdy watch with clean lines that will complement any style for any occasion.

From different angles:

The impeccably simple style of the Citizen Sports Eco-Drive AW0050-15A Men's Watch is clean and classic. Its good looks leave a lasting impression and its Eco-Drive movement never allows the watch to be on downtime. It converts both natural and artificial lights into electrical energy and stores it in a storage unit almost like a rechargeable battery. It's the intensity/brightness of the light that determines how many units it makes finally and how fast.
